

FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE FOUNDATION

IENM Online Leadership Programme

The Florence Nightingale Foundation, with the Burdett Trust for Nursing, are pleased to offer an interactive online leadership programme to all Internationally Educated Nurses and Midwives (IENMS) working in the United Kingdom.

This exciting opportunity will be open to all IENMS practicing in the UK, whether in the NHS, social care or private healthcare. Whether you have been working here for some time or are new to the UK health care setting but would like to enhance your leadership skills, this programme is recommended for you.

You will get the chance to develop your own authentic leadership style and to enhance your skills; enabling you to improve your service and boost your career opportunities.

By completing the programme you join our growing community of nurse and midwifery leaders who are following in Florence's footsteps and making a difference for patients and communities.

The programme offers a supportive learning space, developed in collaboration with subject experts and fellow IENMS who themselves have forged exciting careers in the UK.

The fully funded online programme will be undertaken over 8 months. It includes 5 modules which will be opened up one by one for you to work through at your own pace, meaning you can fit your learning around your work and other commitments.

The learning outcomes for this programme are:

- Ability to lead with greater presence and personal impact
- Clearer identification of personal leadership style
- Improved confidence in speaking up
- Ability to understand and lead quality improvement
- Confidence and understanding of how to progress your career

To participate in the programme you must:

- Have gained your primary nursing or midwifery qualification outside the UK
- Be a registered nurse or midwife with the NMC
- Be practicing in the UK
